

IN FAVOR OF PEACE

MEETING UNDER AUSPICES OF THE
LOCAL COUNCIL.Mrs. May Wright Sewall President
Over the Meeting at the First Baptist Church.

ADDRESS OF ADDISON C. HARRIS

HE DISCUSSES QUESTION FROM STANDPOINT OF DIPLOMACY.Resolutions Introduced and Unanimously Adopted—Subject to Be Considered at Future Meeting.

Addison C. Harris, ex-minister to Austria-Hungary, delivered an eloquent and scholarly address on the subject of "Arbitration and Universal Peace" before the local branch of the International Council of Women, in the First Baptist Church yesterday afternoon. The meeting was one of a series arranged to be held simultaneously in twenty-six countries of the world on May 15, but on account of the dedication of the Indiana soldiers' monument coming on that day, the peace council of Indianapolis was held one day in advance of that in all other places.

The church was simply but appropriately decorated with flags and flowering plants, a striking feature being the splendid flag that formed the background of the speaker's platform. A number of banners bearing the names (in English, French and German), of countries represented in the international council were ranged along the choir loft, pleasingly interspersed with flags of England, France, Italy and the United States and the Red Cross emblem.

Mrs. Sewall, president of the International Council of Women, presided over the meeting. After explaining that the gathering was convened in behalf of "peace—peace on that magnificent scale which looked toward cessation of warfare between nations," Mrs. Sewall presented the Rev. Charles E. Bacon, pastor of Roberts Park Methodist Church, who pronounced the invocation. Mrs. Blaker, president of the Local Council of Women, read a letter from the venerable Judge Robert Denny, expressing his profound regret that ill health prevented his attendance at the meeting. Before the principal address was delivered by Mr. Harris two songs were rendered in a delightful manner by Mrs. Ida Gray Scott.

CHARACTER OF ARGUMENT.

Mr. Harris prefaced his interesting talk with the statement that he would discuss the world peace movement from the point of view of diplomacy, "since," he declared, "this great movement not only had to be planted, but is to be fostered and made to grow and develop through diplomacy." The speaker took bold ground against the prevalent idea that war is the natural relation of man to man, and cited Dr. Vattel's assertion, "Peace is the natural condition of mankind." Mr. Harris traced in an unusually interesting manner the real beginning of the movement looking toward universal peace, which he found in the French revolution and in the Declaration of Independence in this country. He said that after the destruction and havoc of the French conflict, peace came as a "rest and exhaustion" in Europe for nearly two generations, broken then by the gigantic scheme of Napoleon, which was the German Iron Chancellor Bismarck, which contemplated the bringing about of universal peace by universal preparation for war. Mr. Harris recounted the formation of the Holy Alliance, composed of Russia, Austria, Prussia and Germany, the object of which was to restore the boundaries of European countries as they existed before Napoleon's career of conquest and to maintain the principle of monarchical government on the continent of Europe. He pointed out the risings in South America, said the speaker, and the formation of republics which were to be overthrown by Napoleon, thus posing the Holy Alliance. This brought into existence the famous Monroe doctrine, the enforcement of which was guaranteed by Great Britain, through that country's supremacy on the sea, making it impossible for foreign battle ships to cross to South America without its consent. Mr. Harris narrated the disastrous results to France of its encounter with the German host of Germany, and said that this opened the eyes of other European powers to the danger of having in their midst such a powerful menace. Hence resulted the triple alliance, formed to protect the countries composing it from any further aggression. One reason for the triple alliance, which was stronger than any other, was that it was formed to increase its military equipment and the result of the entire movement was that Europe was now in a state of militarism, which the speaker declared retarded and dwarfed commerce of all kinds. INSIDE THE GROCERY

Some Facts Made Known.

It is often thought that grocers really have very little care regarding the food value of the articles they sell, but the real facts are that grocery keepers of the right sort are extremely particular as to what they recommend.

One of the fraternity relates a tale. "The highest priced coffee on the market I introduced to my customers and myself. I began to have bilious attacks and after a little observation attributed them directly to coffee. Every time I left off drinking it I got better, but I felt the need of a warm drink for breakfast.

"Along in '96 a wholesale grocer urged me to put in some Postum Food Coffee in my store, which I did with considerable misgiving, for at that time, the now famous Postum was not so well known.

"He urged me to try it myself, which I did, and was disgusted with the flat, tasteless beverage, so was my wife. I remembered the wholesale grocer said something about following directions carefully, so I took the package and studied it. I at once discovered that we had boiled it long enough, only three or four minutes, but it must be boiled 15 minutes at least, so we tried it again, with the result that we got a perfect cup of coffee, a delightful and healthful beverage. I have continued the use of Postum in my home ever since. We use it for breakfast, dinner and supper.

"My bilious attacks quickly left and I am free from them altogether. I began to explain to my customers something of the value of Postum Coffee, and now have a very large trade on it. Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Here's something you want, because it is so much better and more delicious than any other.

Requiring no cooking, and very little sugar, cream or milk, it is at once the most economical food on the market.

Contains no drugs, and is not a medicinal food, in the sense of curing disease, but by its nutritious wholesomeness aids the organs of the body to perform their functions in a natural, healthful manner—assists digestion, clarifies the blood, imparts vital energy to the system, and brings restful sleep at night.

Mapl-Flake is an all round food, hearty enough for the manual laborer, nutritious enough for the brain worker, delicate enough for the dyspeptic, healthful for all people.

Mapl-Flake is entirely different from all other cereal foods. It comes to you in large, crispy flakes, as delicious as honey, and with the muscle and brain-building strength of iron—the ideal food for breakfast, the appetizer for dinner, and the sauce piquant for supper.

No cooking required, always ready to eat.

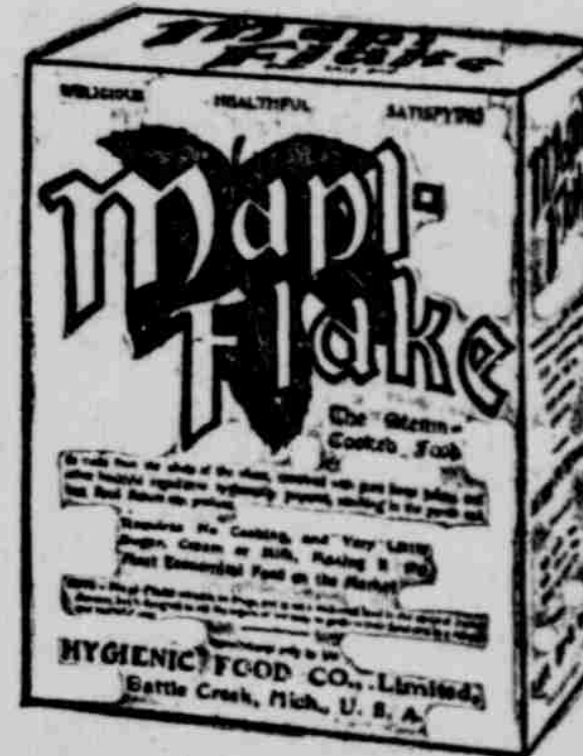

Let the little folks eat it without stint, every mouthful is a mouthful of health.

A hundred dainty desserts and delicious dishes can be made with Mapl-Flake. Pamphlet giving directions for serving inside each carton. Try one package—we won't have to coax you to buy the second time. Don't allow the grocer to substitute any other preparation as "just as good," or "just the same." Mapl-Flake is in class by itself—a delicious, ideal, cereal food.

If the grocer values your trade, he'll have Mapl-Flake for you.

No more expensive than the common cereal foods—and if after trying you are not satisfied, the grocer will return your money, taking back the unused portion. Try a package today.

which prevented any definite action looking to the reduction of national armaments, but expressed gratification that the conference had been able to secure the establishment of an international court of arbitration, to be composed of representatives of all nations interested, such nominating four members of the court. "How well we remember the name of one—our fellow-townsmen," said Mr. Harris feelingly, "whose name first graced and headed the list of the American representatives on this great tribunal—Gen. Benjamin Harrison—and I have cause to know that no honor that ever came to him in his long and noble and glorious life gave to him such sweet nectar of Christian pleasure as did his appointment on that list. Speaking of the composition of this international arbitration tribunal, Mr. Harris said:

"Provision is made in this world's agreement that other nations may come in, and I recall the fact that when the Pan-American Congress was in session in the City of Mexico but a few months ago, at the solicitation of the representatives of our Republic all the republics of South America commissioned the United States to ask that their names, too, might be enrolled and they also be made members of this international arbitration tribunal. Japan is a member, China is a member, all the republics of the Americas are members, nearly all the powers of Europe are members—and to-day there is congregated together at the court of The Hague the representatives of all the nations, and if a second or third rate power feels aggrieved at the insolent force, if you please, of the greatest power on earth and should appeal to the tribunal, would any great Goliath of a power refuse to submit to arbitration? Public opinion of the world is its greatest master, and you, Madame President, and you all, are members of this great body which make intelligent, all-powerful public opinion. That your power, that is your opportunity, and these meetings that are held in this land and in every other land of the globe today and to-morrow express and give forth the aspiration of all the good people of the world and so I can foresee, through the thought I am not, long-sighted I may not be—I can foresee that we are in the dawn of a greater, happier, peaceful era of the world than was anticipated when your society was founded. It has come about in a measure by your effort, because the wife and the mother and the women of the land unitedly set their shoulders to an effort.

"Mr. Harris declared his belief that the establishment of the international arbitration tribunal means the practical abolishment of war, except rebellion within a nation. Rebellions, he declared, could not well be arbitrated. In conclusion Mr. Harris said: "The peace of our Republic will, with the help of all good people throughout the world, in time enlighten the whole globe and secure to all peoples of the world the blessings of liberty and peace which we enjoy. I therefore congratulate you ladies who are interested in this great work and bid you Godspeed and may God shower His blessings upon you and your work."

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED.

Mrs. Sewall announced that the series of meetings to be held to-day will be characterized by an exchange of resolutions bearing on the subject of peace and international arbitration. She asked Mr. Harris to read a resolution of this character forwarded from the National Council of Women of Holland, after which a resolution of similar tenor was read and adopted by the Local Council, as follows:

"Resolved, That American women assembled on May 15, 1902, for the purpose of considering the fruits of war and the fruits of peace do solemnly pledge themselves to meet annually to hold a demonstration in support of the cause of peace, and to commit themselves to adopting as their own that ideal of loving brotherhood which can be achieved only by the cessation of international hostilities. They repudiate war as a means of settling international differences and they repudiate the use of force as a means of settling personal animosities. They accept as a corollary of the universal brotherhood of man the universal brotherhood of woman."

"They send greetings to the women of other countries who this day may be assembled to attest similar convictions. They rejoice that women throughout the world are beginning to feel their responsibility for human conditions outside of the home as well as within its sacred walls."

"They ask all women everywhere to adopt by their own task assumed by the International Council of Women, which is the application of the golden rule to society, custom and law."

By a unanimous rising vote the meeting extended to Mr. Harris its thanks for his able address, which had been listened to throughout with the closest attention. The exercises were concluded with singing of the national air "America" by the entire audience.

It was announced that the June meeting of the Local Council of Women will take up and discuss some of the methods by which public sentiment favoring universal peace may be created. The session will be in the nature of a round-table conference. The names of the principal speakers will be given out later.

ELECTRIC FREIGHT RATES

CONFERENCE OF SHIPPERS AND UNION TRACTION COMPANY.In Other Places Interurban Rates Are About Three-Fourths of Steam Railroads.

Mayor Bookwalter has asked C. W. McGuire, assistant to President McCulloch, of the Union Traction Company, to a conference with the city authorities and the shippers' committee, of which James L. Keach is chairman, early next week. Mr. Bookwalter received a letter from Mr. McGuire saying he was prepared to attend any such conference as soon as he received notice of it. The same mail brought a letter from Mr. Keach saying his committee was ready. He asked that the meeting be held next week, Tuesday preferably.

The conference will deal wholly with the freight rates which the road is expected to charge in and out of the city. This subject has engaged the attention of Mr. Keach and his committee for some weeks. Involved in the question is the establishment of a permanent freight depot for the system. In some cities where interurban freight systems are in use cars are loaded at particular hours and thus a close connection must always be made. Under the franchise of the Union Traction Company it must maintain a depot where freight may be left at any time. The committee has been in correspondence with business men and interurban companies elsewhere and feels that it is sufficiently informed to discuss a reasonable rate.

Merchants here have corresponded with others in Toledo and Columbus, O. In Toledo a merchant elated a case in profit. A shipment to a place thirty miles from Toledo cost 30 cents by express, 10 to 15 cents by freight and 7 1/2 cents by interurban. The interurban was reported cheaper, more accessible and quicker. In Columbus the cars are loaded at 3 o'clock in the morning and 4 o'clock in the afternoon, there not being any depot. The rate is about three-fourths the usual freight charge.

The Indianapolis & Greenfield Company carries freight from here to Greenfield at the rate of 6 cents a hundred pounds. For the same distance the freight by steam road is 7 1/2 cents a hundred.

While the committee of the local shippers has not announced its intention, it is believed that the rates, according to what is known among steam lines as the "official classification," will be satisfactory at a point between and 75 per cent. of the charges this classification calls for.

LECTURE ON HUMAN ANATOMY.

Funeral Directors Entertained by Prof. W. R. Hohenschuh, of Iowa.

The members of the Indiana Funeral Directors' Association went to school yesterday. The school was opened by Prof. W. R. Hohenschuh, of Iowa City, Ia. He spent the entire afternoon in lecturing on human anatomy and its relationship to the art of embalming and preparing bodies for burial and shipment. Before he took up his work, Dr. C. H. McCully, of Logansport, a well-known writer on progressive embalming, read a paper on "The Body Guard." This paper was instructive as to the precautions an embalmer, or a body dresser, should take to prevent blood poisoning.

Professor Hohenschuh's lecture included no demonstration, although he was prepared for one. He used charts and made drawings to illustrate his talk, and he received the closest attention throughout. This morning he will resume his subject and will demonstrate with a human body. The memorial services yesterday morning were impressive. Prayer was offered by G. C. Wyatt, of Louisville. Eulogies of three deceased members were read. This morning the association will elect officers after the demonstration and it is believed Secretary E. S. Davis, of Alexandria, will be elected president.
